

Social distancing and
infection protection
without compromises

Infection protection, anything but boring.

Increase safety at the workplace and in public facilities with infection protection solutions from the REISS acoustic range:

- I Various possibilities – partition elements with pinnable acoustic material, magnetic whiteboard or acrylic glass
- I Versatile use – as table extension in table-top/rear table mounting, as partition wall with flat pedestal or on castors
- I Individual combination – a wide range of materials and colours, different heights and widths, can be retrofitted at any time

We know how to create offices.

Social distancing and
infection protection
without compromises

Social distancing without compromises.

With the products of the REISS acoustic ranges Calo 22 and 42, protection against infection and maintaining safety distances become a colourful, customisable design element in open plan/ offices and public facilities. From pinnable fabric to magnetic whiteboards to clear acrylic glass – there are no limits to your imagination when designing rooms under aspects of infection protection.

The combination possibilities with acrylic glass provide protection against droplet infection without compromising communication, especially in areas where direct visual contact is required.

More information about the REISS acoustic range on <https://www.reiss-bueromoebel.de/en/acoustic.html> or scan QR code.

